FDR in Hawaii to Speed War Against Japan

Meandering
Along the
Main Stem
By WASH FAYETTE

Pity the poor editor . . . he's really got a job trying to keep you up to date on the war news now that the Americans have turned their blitzkrieg loose on the Germans in France and the Russians have done the same along that 1,000-mile battle line on Germany's eastern front . . . so fast are the Allied forces moving that hardly has one Associated Press story cleared the printers before new and sensational developments bring new leads . . . headlines seldom can be set until just before press time . . . there are few days when a war story will stand unchanged for more than an hour . . . and while it nearly drives the news editor nuts, he just cusses to himself and is grateful for newer news and, most of all, is glad to make the changes because they reflect the victorious progress of the boys at the fighting front.

Maps of war zones . . . they're still another headache . . . it's an odds-on bet that one laid out in the morning for afternoon editions will be obsolete before press time . . . look at the one in Tuesday's Record-Herald and you'll see what I mean . . . the morning reports showed the American and British forces well back of the 100-mile ring around Paris . . . before the paper went to press, they had almost reached that line . . . but the map was permitted to stand because it showed comparative distances and the speed with which the Allies were advancing . . . it's great news and all very encouraging . . . but the boys are still a long way from Berlin . . . and it takes only a split second for a bullet to stop an attacking doughboy . . . why not let their successes be an inspiration to further effort at home and not an excuse to ease up.

Believe it or not, the boys away out yonder in the southwest Pacific read this column.

This was brought home forcibly today when Mrs. Bessie West, who has six sons in the armed forces and is employed at the Coca Cola Bottling plant next door to the Record-Herald building, told me of receiving a letter from her son, Yeoman Third Class, Reeder West, who is stationed somewhere out there where the hunting for Japs has been good and his reference to this column.

Mrs. West had sent her son a bundle of Record-Heralds and in his letter Reeder wrote:

"God bless your heart, you will never know how much it meant to me in getting to read the Main Stem once more."

I'm glad Reeder enjoys this column, and I hope he gets to read this little squib. Good luck Reeder!

MINE RESCUE SQUAD NEAR END OF WORK

New Shaft Sunk After Month Of Effort

BELLAIRE, Aug. 10.—(P)—The month-old struggle to reach the bodies of 68 miners who were entombed by a fire in the Powhatan mine July 5 drew near an end today as a new shaft was extended to 1,175 feet.

Specialized rescue crews, working through the new entry in Fishbasket Hollow, seven miles from the main entrance, hope to lengthen the shaft to 1,400 feet and reach the tunnel containing the bodies tomorrow or Saturday.

The Powhatan Mining Company estimates it has spent $100,000 on the project so far.

MASS SUICIDE OF JEWS REPORTED FROM FRANCE

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 10.—(P)—Jews interned at the Grand Hotel of Vittel, France were reported by British civilian repatriates today to have committed mass suicide upon hearing a rumor that the Germans were singling them out for further prosecution.

PLANS ARE LAID AT CONFERENCES WITH OFFICERS

Commander-in-chief Meets Gen. MacArthur - - Hints Of New Drive Soon

By HOWARD FLIEGER
HONOLULU, July 29.—(Delayed)—(P)—President Roosevelt concluded his first war-time conference with Gen. Douglas MacArthur today, bringing to a close three days of strategy talks which covered every phase of the quickening Pacific conflict.

The southwest Pacific commander was greeted with a friendly "It's good to see you, Doug," by the chief executive.

Mr. Roosevelt arrived July 26 at this fortress island, where two and a half years ago Japanese bombs blasted the United States into the war. He came here from the Marine base at San Diego, Calif., where he boarded a cruiser shortly after his July 20 speech accepting renomination for a fourth term.

With MacArthur at the Pearl Harbor conference table were Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, Pacific fleet commander, and other top-flight war chiefs representing the full scope of the Pacific campaign from pole to pole.

Plan Defeat of Japan

Later Mr. Roosevelt told reporters the meetings planned new offensives against the Japanese, and he reiterated America's Pacific war goals; to retake and free the Philippines and to drive Japan to unconditional surrender.

The chief executive coupled with his conferences detailed visits to Pearl Harbor and other military installations, converted from the Japanese-wrought havoc of Dec. 7, 1941 into an island bristling with land, sea and air fighting.

COUNTER PROTEST MADE BY GERMANY

Allies Accused of Killing Captured Soldiers

LONDON, Aug. 10.—(P)—Germany, accused by both Britain and Canada of slaying captured Allied soldiers, announced today she was protesting to American authorities that Nazi prisoners had been killed on the Italian front.

A Berlin broadcast said a strong note of protest was being forwarded through neutral Switzerland over the treatment allegedly given several Germans who "surrendered after they had used up their ammunition and after being encircled by American infantry."

One soldier, Berlin asserted, was "shot at from a distance of seven yards with rifles, and heavy hand grenades were also thrown at the prisoners."

No Allied comment on the Berlin claims was available immediately.

LATEST NAZI BUZZ BOMBS CARRYING INCENDIARIES

LONDON, Aug. 10.—(P)—German robot bombs now are carrying incendiaries, the ministry of home security announced today.

Examination of the new weapons showed that each of the flying bombs which fell recently in south England carried about 10 incendiaries.

The home security ministry repeated today a grim warning that those evacuating London should take their gas masks with them.

Cut in War Production For Reconversion Looms

By MAX HALL
WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—(P)—Top commanders of the army and navy were face-to-face today with an unprecedented request from production chief Donald M. Nelson that they take a look at munitions stockpiles and decide whether the army should not cut production in some items.

Nelson made the challenge by

REDS DRIVING ON

Vatican Makes Plea for Desperate Italians as Allies Slug Ahead

Although the big war news, for Americans at least, right now comes from the invasion area in France where the Doughboys are pushing along the road to Paris, there is bitter fighting that admittedly has an important bearing on the war raging on the east and south sides of Hitler's European fortress.

In Russia, a grave new threat arose for the Germans in both East Prussia and Warsaw where Soviet forces were adopting what appeared to be new tactics of bypassing and encircling. Equally grave potentialities faced the Nazis in the Baltic region where the Reds were tightening their grip on the Germans caught there.

In Italy, the plight of residents of liberated cities brought an appeal for help from the Vatican while Allied armed forces continued their bloody but relentless advance northward.

(By the Associated Press)
Soviet tanks, supported by bombers, rumbled forward toward the Latvian port of Liepaja today in a new drive which carved additional chunks out of the Nazis' Baltic flank.

At the same time Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's forces, despite the bitterest German resistance of the entire summer campaign, extended slowly their Vistula River bridgehead below Warsaw and exploded a troublesome Nazi salient northeast of the Polish capital.

Rokossovsky, held at bay within artillery shot of Warsaw, shoved the Germans back north-west of Siedlce, seemingly in preparation for an offensive to bypass Warsaw and head for East Prussia.

Riga was the goal of another Russian column battling farther north.

The Red army seized more than 700 settlements yesterday, a Russian announced today.

OHIO FAIRGROUNDS NORTH OF CAPITAL

New Location Chosen; State Fair May Be in 1945

COLUMBUS, Aug. 10.—(P)—Ohio's new fairgrounds, nearly seven times as large as the present site, will be located northwest of Columbus if a recommendation by a committee yesterday wins approval.

First definite move to select a new location was made by the executive committee of the Ohio State Fairgrounds Relocation Committee, which voted to recommend the site just northwest of this city to the general relocation committee, according to John T. Brown, director of agriculture and chairman of the latter committee.

If the relocation committee approves the site, the state legislature will be asked to pass on it. Brown said a special session of the general assembly might be called before the end of 1944, giving hope that the fair, last held in 1941, can be resumed in 1945.

CIVIL WAR VET DIES

YOUNGSTOWN, Aug. 10.—(P)—Youngstown's last Civil War veteran, Ferdinand Carson, 101, died yesterday at Lake Alfred, Fla., where he had made his home in recent years.

16 MORE SHIPS SUNK BY AMERICAN SUBS IN WAR WITH JAPS

One of Those Sent Down Was Warship

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—(P)—American submarines, operating in Japanese waters, have destroyed another 16 enemy vessels including one warship, the navy announced today.

The latest bag of the far-ranging subs, which may have operated in coastal waters of the Japanese homeland, brings to 839 the number of Japanese ships of all types sunk, probably sunk or damaged by submarine alone.

Included in that total are 54 warships, definitely sent to the bottom, 11 probably sunk and 14 damaged. The damage to the enemy merchant fleet includes 633 ships sunk, 26 probably sunk and 101 damaged.

A medium-sized tanker was included in the latest announcement, thus cutting deeper into the enemy.

TWO MOVIES BANNED FOR SERVICEMEN

Military Officials Confer on Politics for Soldiers

WASHINGTON, August 10.—(P)—Army and navy officials are to confer with senators tomorrow on just how much politics should reach the eyes and ears of American troops.

The meeting was given new importance by the War Department's announcement yesterday that two motion pictures have been banned from distribution to the armed forces both overseas and at home. Reason given was that such distribution might be construed as in violation of the Soldier Voting Act.

The pictures are "Wilson," dramatizing the career of the World War I president, and "Heavenly Days," telling of a trip to the nation's capital of radio comedians, Fibber McGee and Molly.

RECORDS SMASHED

CLEVELAND, Aug. 10.—(P)—Ohio race track betting records on days other than Saturdays and holidays were shattered yesterday when 13,000 opening day spectators wagered $223,802 at Thistledown.

Guam is Conquered After 19-day Fight

Japs Make Big to-do for Home Consumption Over Admittedly Serious Loss to Allies of Hengyang in China To Cover Up Reverses Suffered Elsewhere by Japanese

By J. B. KRUEGER
(By the Associated Press)
Japan boasted today that American Forces suffered a "major disaster" in the claimed capture of Hengyang, perhaps seeking solace for the Japanese debacle on Guam—now cleared of all organized resistance—and for multiplying reverses on every other battlefield of the Pacific War.

Chinese authorities had not acknowledged fall of the important rail city but a message from the long-besieged city Tuesday said the Chinese defenders had been slain almost to the last man.

Whatever its success at Hengyang, Japan, had still to close a 170-mile gap in the Hankow-Canton Railway below the city. With the gap closed the Japanese would have a 1,000 mile supply line and defensive position dividing coastal and Western China.

The last organized enemy resistance on Guam ended Tuesday, Adm. Nimitz disclosed. The end came after 19 days of rugged battling.

YANKS PLACE BETS ON NAZI COLLAPSE

WITH U. S. TROOPS IN FRANCE, August 10.—(P)—So intense is the conviction among American troops that Germany is in a state of near collapse that many already are placing bets on her fall anywhere between October 1 and New Years.

Correspondents with the U. S. First Army formed a pool bet on when Paris will be captured, with predictions ranging from August 15 to October 1. The favorite date in the pool is September 1.

EX-FRENCH PREMIER REPORTED EXECUTED

Leon Blum Said To Have Been Killed in 'Death Factory'

MOSCOW, Aug. 10.—(P)—Konstantin Simonov, correspondent for the army newspaper Red Star, made public today a story which indicated former Premier Leon Blum of France had died at the Nazis' death factory near Lublin, Poland.

Simonov's story said hundreds of thousands of persons, principally Jews, were killed there since the winter of 1941.

The correspondent said the "extermination camp" consisted of death fields with scientific crematories and a system of gallows which Blum was forced to help build.

FARM BUREAU CO-OP ANSWERS CHARGES BY SMALL BUSINESS

Advantages Offered Given Credit for Patronage

COLUMBUS, Aug. 10.—(P)—The Ohio Farm Bureau Federation today pleaded the cause of the co-operative before the Small Business Commission.

Small business men say they are being forced out of business by the co-operatives, one of the largest of which is the Farm Co-operative, because of trade advantages they say have been given the co-ops by the federal and state governments.

Murray D. Lincoln, secretary of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation and general manager of affiliated co-operatives, contended the co-operatives were not given unfair trade advantages over small business.

"The farmer," he said, "buys his raw materials at retail prices, un-

WORKERS BENEFIT PLAN ON PAR WITH FIGHTERS' OPPOSED BY SEN. TAFT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—(P)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) today criticized as "fundamentally wrong" what he said were attempts by sponsors of the Murray-Kilgore demobilization bill to provide post-war benefits to war workers on a par with those provided for soldiers and sailors.

"I cannot see a parallel between soldiers and sailors serving at $50 a month and others receiving high wages in war industry," Taft told the senate in urging defeat of the CIO-supported measure under which discharged war workers would receive up to $35 a week in unemployment compensation.

All Germans Conscripted To Bolster Nazi Forces

LONDON, Aug. 10.—(P)—Propaganda Minister Goebbels banned all public meetings and entertainments in Germany not directly connected with the war today in a series of sweeping decrees seeking troops for the Reich's depleted armies.

MORE TROOPS BEING RUSHED UP BY GERMANS

Canadian Assault from Caen Area Poses Another Grave Problem for Nazis

By GLADWIN HILL
SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, Aug. 10.—(P)—American armor was believed to be driving into the last 50-mile zone of defense for Paris today as Supreme Headquarters announced formation of a revolutionary new airborne army—an announcement presaging new blows for victory.

The Germans themselves, confronted by a powerful 1175-mile British-Canadian-American arc, called the fight a "Battle For Paris."

They had abandoned without a serious fight the key city of Le Mans, 110 miles from the French capital, apparently giving up all idea of a stand along the Alecon-Le Mans-Tours line, and their next comparable system of lateral communications ran from Orleans northwest through Chartres—approximately 50 miles from Paris.

The new air-borne organization, consolidating all Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's paratroopers, glider troops and necessary flying personnel into one outfit approximately the size of a full army, is headed by Lt. Gen. Lewis H. Brereton, a veteran of the Pacific, Mediterranean and European theaters who formerly commanded the American Ninth Air Force.

Supreme Headquarters wrapped in official mystery the actual whereabouts of the American spearheads which last were reported by the Germans to be probing points 87 miles from Paris, but one qualified observer declared, "you can be pretty sure they are not just camping outside Le Mans."

At the northern end of the arc, however, the Germans were rushing troops southward across the

SALES TAX SUIT IS DISMISSED AGAIN

Supreme Court Won't Hear 1935 Charges

COLUMBUS, Aug. 10.—(P)—The Ohio Supreme Court has dismissed for a second time a suit brought by a Columbus resident to force the state taxation department to collect $435,000 from two chain food stores for sales taxes allegedly unaccounted for in 1935.

The action was brought by High M. Foster of Columbus, former auditor in the taxation department, against the Kroger Grocery & Baking Company and The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company.

The court held that the state taxation department under the original sales tax law was without authority to make an assessment against the companies on the basis of average percentage of tax collected by other vendors in like business or by mathematical probabilities that the average could not be less than three percent.

LAUSCHE WILL OPEN CAMPAIGN IN CINCINNATI

CLEVELAND, Aug. 10.—(P)—Mayor Frank J. Lausche, Democratic gubernatorial nominee, will open a speaking tour Saturday in Cincinnati, the home of his Republican opponent, Mayor James G. Stewart.

The Cleveland mayor will appear in Mansfield Aug. 17, and on the 18th will go to the Ashtabula County Fair at Jefferson. On the 19th he will speak at a homecoming event at Minerva and will attend the Lorain County Fair on the 24th.

KILLED BY TRAIN

EATON, Aug. 10.—(P)—Fred Decker, 83, and partly deaf, was killed today by a Pennsylvania railroad passenger train at the Main Street crossing.

BOTH CANNING FACTORIES NOW PACKING CORN

Yield Is Light and Quality Below Normal in This Community

Both the Ladoga and Fayette canning plants started packing sweet corn, Tuesday noon and at each plant it was stated the yield will be light and the quality only fair.

The Ladoga plant is employing approximately 150 and the Fayette plant over 100 in handling the corn pack, it was indicated.

At both plants it was stated help so far is sufficient, with many volunteers added to the regular rolls.

Neither plant is operating at capacity, and probably will not do so.

Rains have been delayed so long that if they come during the next few days they would not greatly increase the late sweet corn yield, as well as the field corn.

Response of the public in helping provide labor for saving the crops to be packed has been most gratifying to all concerned, and present indications are that there will be sufficient labor to meet the demands throughout the packing season, unless there is a pronounced change in the present situation.

Packing corn, tomatoes and pumpkin will occupy several weeks.

ing power. He termed the conversion the "most amazing change" he had ever seen.

Admiral Nimitz and General MacArthur—the latter wearing a leather field jacket—went aboard the president's ship to greet the chief executive as soon as he arrived at Pearl Harbor.

"It's good to see you, Doug," the president said to MacArthur as the two men came down the gangplank into a navy yard teeming with sailors and workers. The crowd applauded.

With them and Nimitz in later conferences was Admiral William F. Halsey, commander of the third fleet, Lt. Gen. Robert C. Richardson, Jr., central Pacific army commander, and war chiefs representing the north, south and southwest Pacific theaters.

"Highly Successful"

Mr. Roosevelt termed his visit to the birthplace of the war a highly successful three days. Seated and smiling, he swapped almost an hour of questions and answers with Pacific war correspondents and White House reporters for the Associated Press, the United Press, the International News Service and a representative of the four major radio networks who traveled with his party from Washington.

We are going back to the Philippines, Mr. Roosevelt said, and MacArthur is going to be a part of the operation. You can't say, he smiled, whether the general is going back directly or by way of North Africa—but he is going back and we are going to give the islands their independence.

Our goal still is unconditional surrender for all our enemies, he said. Whatever is required, he continued, we are going right through to clean up the Japanese.

A reporter asked if new Japanese offensives would develop soon and the president said yes, but reminded his listeners that soon is a relative term and strategy is a constantly shifting thing.

During his stay here the president visited virtually every military operation on the island.

He made seven brief talks in two days.

Trip Held Secret

His trip to Hawaii was a closely guarded military secret, but rows of islanders and servicemen lined the streets every time the presidential party moved through Honolulu headed for one of the many nearby military reservations.

Mr. Roosevelt—his Panama hat and seersucker suit made conspicuous among the military uniforms which surrounded him—waved and nodded from his open car as he passed rows of soldiers, sailors, marines and service women.

Virtually all scars of the Japanese attack had disappeared from

Mainly About People

Mrs. Pern Himmelsbach has moved from East Street to 225 North Fayette Street.

Mrs. Leonard R. Korn is recuperating today at her home on Gregg Street, after being a patient in White Cross Hospital, Columbus, for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Crawford (former Bertha Bruce) are announcing the birth of a son, Jerry Ray on August first, at their home 725 Columbus Avenue.

Raymond Rittenhouse, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Rittenhouse, who suffered a fractured skull when he fell at his home in New Martinsburg, the latter part of last week, is today "improved."

Mrs. Carole Carpenter returned to her home in Jeffersonville Thursday morning from University Hospital, Columbus. The trip was made in the Alvin G. Little invalid car. She is recovering nicely at her home from an appendectomy performed in the hospital, two weeks ago.

The island long before the president put into Pearl Harbor, which he last visited 10 years ago. In place of the wreckage were acres of fighting planes, tanks and other battle equipment. He saw sugar cane plantations of two years ago now converted into forests of war equipment, and land reclaimed from the sea to become a huge air base.

During his stay Mr. Roosevelt and his staff talked with Lt. Gen. Millard F. Harmon who headed army operations throughout the Solomon; Vice Admiral Charles A. Lockwood, commander of submarine operations in the Pacific; Rear Admiral Charles A. Pownall, commander of the Pacific fleet air arm, and many others.

The president was accompanied to Hawaii by White House military aides, Samuel I. Rosenman, special counsel to the president and one of Mr. Roosevelt's close personal advisors, and Elmer Davis, director of the Office of War Information. Davis said he was not a member of the presidential party and explained he came to the Pacific to review OWI operations. However, he helped handle press relations.

Honolulu was alive with rumors—all of them wrong—that the closely guarded navy compound where the president stayed would be the site of a meeting with Prime Minister Churchill or Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek. Actually the whole affair was an American huddle.

The president turned aside campaign questions by saying he was too far away from politics.

NEWSMAN FROM RUSSIA FORESEES YEAR OF WAR

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—(P)—Henry Cassidy, chief of the Associated Press bureau in Moscow, brought home today a Russian prediction that it will take until next summer to crush Germany militarily.

Cassidy quoted an unidentified Soviet authority. The prediction was qualified by a statement that the unexpected, such as the next bomb hitting Hitler, would change the outlook.

It is estimated that domestic airlines will fly 897,000,000 ton miles in mail, passenger and cargo by 1950.

PFC. J. G. GRAHAM IS WOUNDED ON FRENCH FRONT

Is Husband of Bloomingburg Girl; In Service Less Than Two Years

Pfc. James Gerald Graham, husband of Mrs. Minnie Rose, of Bloomingburg Route one, was wounded in action in France July 20, a War Department telegram notified his wife.

Pfc. Graham had been overseas since last January and will complete his second year in the army next November.

Twenty-one years old now, Pfc. Graham has been married nearly two years. He and his wife have no children. He was employed at the Steel Project Company in Springfield before he entered the army.

No details as to the extent or seriousness of his injuries were included in the telegram. The War Department assured Mrs. Graham that she would be informed of further details when they became available.

Seine, and had succeeded in erecting a new but makeshift anti-tank screen around the Canadian wedge driven 16 miles south of Caen to within five miles of Falaise.

Lt. Gen. H. D. Crerar's Canadian First Army was finding the going harder, but it lunged out to the east toward Vimont and the road to Paris where Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's original push stalled three weeks ago.

(CBS said there were unconfirmed reports American troops had driven 50 miles beyond captured Le Mans—to a point 60 miles from Paris—and another unofficial and unconfirmed report that the Americans were only 40 miles from the French capital.)

Behind the moving battleline, American infantry and armor, speeding the one-by-one reduction of Brittany's strategic ports, broke into Nantes, according to unofficial reports. Today's official announcements only mentioned the reaching of that city 30 miles up the Loire River.

Both Angers, a city 80 miles up the Loire and just north of that river, and Lorient, German U-boat base on the south coast of Brittany, were surrounded by American forces.

St. Malo, famous resort and fishing village, was captured, although today's communique said a few Germans remained to be dealt with.

Brest, French naval base at the western tip of Brittany, and most important prize in the Peninsula, was under heavy attack by Americans fighting the remnants of three Nazi divisions who had refused to surrender.

The Germans apparently were making desperate, and seemingly foolhardy, attempts to evacuate both Brest and Lorient, as unofficial reports said German ships had risked Allied air force to enter the harbors.

The Germans were putting up a bitter resistance at Dinard, across the mouth of the Rance River from St. Malo.

But at Nantes, France's eighth city with a population of 195,000, the Germans apparently were relying mainly upon minefields and other obstacles rather than active opposition.

Prisoners taken by the Americans around St. Malo rose to 3,000.

At the northern end of the Allied arc, the Canadian First Army, having smashed counterattacks from Rommel's breaching lines, edged toward the last hilltop protecting Falaise, less than five miles

First Discharged Wounded Veteran Contented in Pre-War Life on Farm

Fayette County's first seriously wounded veteran to be discharged from the Army has come back home and settled down to take up life just about where he left off more than two years ago.

Those who remained behind when the boys—more than 2,000 of them in Fayette County—went marching off to war, have been wondering whether their experiences would change them and their outlook.

Maybe Merrill Hoppes, who has been away from the farm home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Hoppes on the Rock Bridge Road, for 23 months, who has known the stifling fear of death and has felt the physical pain inflicted by the enemy, could soothe their anxiety.

There were the nightmares of the awful 24 hours he lay wounded and near death before he could be given medical and surgical treatment; of the terrible din of battle when terror gripped him. They kept returning and haunting him while he was in the hospital in Africa. "I used to wake up the other boys around me at night cussing those Germans," he confessed with a sheepish grin. Then he added "But I think I'm all over that now."

Merrill is not sure what he wants to do. But he was not sure before he left. "I might try college," the 24-year-old veteran said thoughtfully with the expense-training program offered veterans under the "G. I. Bill of Rights" in mind as he commented, "you know, that bill is all right."

He no longer has any qualms about reading the war news. His chief interest, of course, is his old infantry outfit which is still in the thick of the fighting in Italy. "I kinda wish I was back with them sometimes," he said.

He is older, but the war has not taken his sense of proportion nor his sense of humor. In his blue summer pants and fresh light blue shirt which have taken the place of his khaki uniform, he looks and acts just like any other farm boy. He still has a ready smile that spreads into a grin and brightens his face on the slightest provocation. There is no hint of bitterness. In spirit and manner, the war has left no marks on Merrill Hoppes. There is no restlessness—just complete ease. Neither is there any apparent craving for excitement that so many parents fear the war will arouse in their boys. "When I got home, things looked so good I didn't ever want to go back," he said.

"I've got used to being home again," he said with a note of contentment and relief he made no attempt to conceal.

"Things look just the same on the farm," he said and added that if he does not take the college training offered by Uncle Sam he probably will start in helping his father there just like he did for five years before he went to war. But, his wounds probably will keep him from doing much heavy work.

His outlook on the future is realistic. He is modest and hesitates to talk about his soldiering. There is no braggadocio. He does not feel he is a hero or entitled to any special favors. He just wants to return to the life he left to become a fighting man. The war has not given him a "tough" philosophy. He wants no sympathy.

For nearly a month now, Merrill has been wearing civilian clothes. On the street, he looks just like any other farm boy and not like a wounded veteran who has spent months in hospitals and undergone a succession of operations.

He was wounded last November 21 in Sicily by a land mine the Germans had left behind to try to stop the advancing doughboys. Fragments of the infernal machine tore into his back and came out through his abdomen. After operations in the army hospital in Africa, he was sent to Halloran General Hospital in New York and then to Fletcher Hospital at Cambridge from which he was released in June and sent to Camp Crowder, Mo., to receive his honorable discharge.

Since coming home about a month ago, he has had his first taste of rationing, which came after he had enlisted in the Army. He has bought his first pair of shoes with a ration stamp. When he got the family groceries he was arrested in the roundup of hostile elements. Snipers have been giving the Eighth Army trouble.

Fleets of American heavy bombers from England and Italy struck today at fuel and transport facilities around Paris and, for the second time in a dozen hours, at the great Romanian oil center of Ploesti.

Upwards of 500 Flying Fortresses and Liberators, escorted by Mustangs and Lightnings, started fires at the refineries, tank cars and derricks 35 miles north of Bucharest. Some installations 19 miles northwest of Ploesti also were bombed in this 13th attack from Italy on the major spring of Nazi oil.

The Germans used smoke screens, causing the fliers from Italy to bomb by instrument. Several enemy fighters were destroyed after the armada broke through a screen of interceptors and loosed their explosives in a storm of intense flak.

What Kind of Celebration?

We've heard talk in Washington C. H., and undoubtedly the same thing has occurred almost every other place over the country, about what a celebration there is likely to be when Germany cracks and surrenders.

Of course there is bound to be a natural exuberance of joy when such news is flashed but if it means to all of us what it should, it hardly should be a cause for wild drinking parties or foolish expenditure of resources.

If there is to be a celebration let it be one of saneness, order and common sense with a dignity that takes into account the sacrifices that many of our boys are making for us.

Along this line a neighboring newspaper, the Wilmington News-Journal, recently carried an editorial under the heading "Don't Cheer—Pray and Work" which had some sobering thought for all of us. Here is what it said:

"Are you getting ready to 'celebrate' Victory Day when Germany surrenders?"

"If you are—DON'T."

"American soldiers will be still fighting and dying."

"There can be NO victory day until Japan, too, is crushed."

"Defeat of Germany is but one step in the long, long struggle that lies ahead of us."

"This war will not end as the first one did. The close of it will come, step by step, and not suddenly."

"With the collapse of the Nazi regime in Europe the real war of the Pacific will open."

"It will be no time for telephone-book confetti, for wild carnival spirit. It will be the most solemn hour in our history."

"Such a celebration would be a mockery to our heroic dead stretched across the vast wastes of the Pacific."

"Their sacrifices are as yet to be avenged."

"By common consent across the nation when the D-Day of the French invasion began, we as a people prayed to God for those brave lads who hit the Normandy beach-heads."

"We sanctified their sacrifices by blending work and prayer."

"Let us carry out that spirit when the Hitler horde is at last brought to their just deserts, in full realization that another equally ruthless enemy must be conquered."

"Let there be no cessation of the vital war production, not for a day, an hour, a minute!"

"Rather, in meekness of spirit and humility of awe, let us open our hearts in gratitude to those who have died for us and for those who must still die."

"Let us never forget that the war will NOT be over."

Typical American Slogan

In every war in which this nation has been involved, at some time and in some place, a new slogan has been developed that has been passed down through the years.

An overseas correspondent of the New York Sun writes of an American outfit in Normandy which sent this message back to its commander: "We have reached our objective. What next?"

"To hell with objectives," the commanding officer replied. "Keep going!"

The officer's name is not given. But he may well have coined a slogan that will be as enduring as "Damn the torpedoes—full speed ahead!" or "Don't give up the ship." Perhaps he didn't have military logic on his side. Even the rankiest amateur strategist can see that such an order might achieve chaotic results. But he certainly had the right idea.

And the officer issued the order at the right time to give both military and civilian spirits a shot in the arm. Rightly or wrongly, people had been wondering about the Allied offensive in Normandy. They had been wondering about correspondents' stories that the Paris time-table was weeks behind schedule, and that caution had become a vice with the Allied command. They contrasted our slow progress with the Russian powerhouse advance.

Then the tanks started rolling in Normandy, and the enemy lines began to buckle. The infantry was on the move, again measuring its daily progress in miles. And an anonymous officer told his men, "To hell with objectives—keep going!"

The words and the spirit are typically American. Perhaps we've read and heard too much about the weariness and homesickness of our troops. They are both, of course. They don't like war. They haven't been brought up on fanatical tales of the glory of dying for an emperor or a fuhrer. But when fighting has to be done they do it, and do it well. Americans have always been like that. We have good reason to be proud that we've never been licked in a war.

"To hell with objectives—keep going!" That's a sound sentiment for us at home to keep in mind, too. None of us has time to stop and watch to see when Germany is going to topple, and in what direction.

If the enemy is off balance and groggy with inner dissension, that's the time to keep going and hit harder—here in America as well as in France, Italy and the Pacific.

The Body's Skill as an Engineer

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

THE HUMAN body as a temperature engineer could give cards and spades to the practitioners of that new profession and still leave them far behind in efficiency. What the English call central heating and what I call a furnace, nature has operating in the winter, and its own brand of air conditioning apparatus, operating in the summer. Between them they keep the old frame at a level 98.6 degrees even though the outside temperature varies as much as between 20 degrees below zero and 110 in the shade.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

The delicacy of the balance between heat formation and heat loss which the body maintains under these varying conditions is truly amazing. Even when the regulation seems to lose control and you have a fever it is really a protective mechanism, to combat infection, because the invading germs do not live well at a temperature of 104.

The body can stand low temperature much better than high. I have seen humans in a freezing treatment room when the thermometer showed a body heat of 80 who revived rapidly after returning to normal air. But a continued fever of 108 cannot be endured by our nervous systems for long.

Throws Off Heat

In hot weather the body prevents itself from overheating by throwing off heat—first by excretions as the urine and feces, second by the expiration of warm breath, and third, by evaporation and radiation and conduction of the skin. This last is by far the most important, it being estimated that the body's heat loss is 14 per cent by evaporation and 73 per cent by radiation and conduction from the skin surface. It gets rid of over 2,000 calories a day in this manner.

Among other newer methods of treatment the war has served to emphasize the products for preventing heat disorders. Even in the temperatures prevailing where troops are stationed in tropical areas, the morbidity from sunstroke and similar conditions is very low.

The symptoms which are associated with what used to be called sunstroke are now considered to be caused by chemical disturbances in the blood rather than as formerly emphasized, disordered heat regulation. All the symptoms of sunstroke—cramps, coma, convulsions—can be seen in those who work in hot occupations indoors or in mines entirely away from the sun.

Loss of Salt

They are due in large part to the excessive loss of salt from the body in the perspiration. Water is also lost, but it is known that water replacement alone will not prevent them. So in good hot weather you need plenty of salt in your food. There is also some disturbance of sugar nutrition, not so well understood, but tablets given to workers in heating industries to take dissolved in plenty of water, now contain sugar as well as salt.

Still another factor is age and artery hardening. Most of the fatal cases of sunstroke in our cities are in the elderly. They of all people should seek a cool spot for vacation.

The elderly skin also does not stand sunburn very well. When I see one of these fellows over fifty years of age who arrive at a resort and start to get a good tan in a hurry and still retain sort of a dirty pallor underneath I suspect the state of his coronary arteries. In fact the craze for a quick suntan is foolish in anybody but the young brunettes. Furthermore there is many a guy with one of those sandy complexions who sits out on a cool and foggy day, and is rewarded only by a lot of keratotic spots on his hands and face. Sunburn is not caused by heat but by ultraviolet rays and they go through clouds. The treatment of injudicious sunburning is that of any mild burn—a soothing cream, such as butesin picrate ointment.

CHAPTER THIRTY-ONE

"It seems," said Matthew, a day or so later, "that I have married a rich woman."

"Mind?"

"Why should I? Throw it away, burn it up, buy diamonds and emeralds and forty-six mink coats and eight imported cars. Also there are taxes, my angel. But I can always support you, you know." He added, a little too carelessly, "What are your mother's plans? Or hasn't she decided?"

"I asked her to live with us," said Judith. "Matthew, I know you didn't like the idea. But I had to. . . I couldn't bear to think of her alone. No matter what happened."

"How do you mean, what happened?"

"Between us."

"Why in the world would you think—" he began, half impatiently. "I wasn't worried," cut in Judith. "I knew it would have to work out. Then your mother suggested that Mother live with her and—"

"But that's a wonderful idea," cried Matthew. "They're old friends, they'd be congenial."

Judith interrupted. "It's a crazy idea. Naturally they're old friends and fond of each other. But they have absolutely nothing in common except us. And besides, your mother's life has been disrupted too often."

"Disrupted?" he repeated, his dark brows drawn.

"Yes. For your sake," said Judith, "living just for you. After you married Irene she had time to rearrange things for herself, but not for long."

He interrupted her again. "That's a curious way to speak of our relationship—I mean as something disrupting."

"Well," Judith demanded, "hasn't it been? So, even if Mother thought she might like to live with your mother, I wouldn't let her. It isn't fair to Mary, no matter what you think."

"Then, what is she to do?" he demanded.

"She's going back to California," answered Judith. "She wouldn't hear of living with us. We've a sort of second cousin out there whom she likes very much, a widow, about Mother's age. They like the same things. She's written, asking Cousin Marion to live with her. They'll travel a little. And there's a school for underprivileged children in which Aunt Ella was interested. Mother wants to take that over."

Matthew found himself sighing with relief. Lighting his pipe, he glanced at Judith's eager face and asked, "You're not happy about it?"

"No, I'm not. But that's the way Mother seems to want it. I'll miss her dreadfully."

He said, "You have me, Judy."

Her face became luminous. She slipped from her chair and came to sit on a big hassock at his feet. Judith leaned her head against his knees, saying, "Yes, I have you, darling."

After Eva Lambert left for the Coast, after the first excitement of settling down in a new apartment, was over, the life of the young Dr. Norman and his bride ran on an almost even keel. There were some upsets, of course. For instance, Judith insisted that Nellie return to Mary. "We don't need her," she told Matthew. "And Mary's more comfortable with her and Kate. She expects to entertain more, she told me so. And this new couple I've found will be ideal, I hope."

Matthew was annoyed. He was used to Nellie. She knew just how he liked things, he said stubbornly, but Judith retorted that the strange servants could be instructed in his likes and dislikes—which were extremely definite.

Besides, the butler could double in brass as a valet. "I," said Judith with dignity, "have no intention of looking after your clothes. If I didn't know better, I would think you slept in them, Matthew."

The couple were Scandinavian, efficient. Olga cooked to perfection, Nils served with capability. Matthew, grumbling, soon became accustomed to them. Judith had her own car and chauffeur who was also available for Matthew when necessary.

They did no formal entertaining for Judith was in mourning. Matthew was restive about that. Mourning was absurd, he remarked, a relic of barbarism. But Judith said quietly that she owed as much to Aunt Ella. Moreover, it would offend and hurt Eva if she learned that her daughter, Ella's niece, was galloping all over the place, night-clubbing and going to parties.

"Besides," she added with the faint smile which had not so far failed to placate him, "I like being alone with you."

Judith learned soon enough that Matthew did not like being alone as much as she did. It was enough for him to know that he could come home to her or that after guests had left the apartment and the door was shut they would be together again. On the evenings when no one was there or they were not going out to Mary's or to close friends, he soon became restless, twirled the dials of the radio, causing abortive blasts of sound. Now he loathed being read aloud to and Judith, who liked to read aloud, and had done so for years to Ella, relinquished her little dream of sitting by a fire-side reading to him from some book which she had enjoyed so much she wanted to share it with him. Sometimes he was busy with the preparation of a paper or the reading of some professional book, and upon those occasions retired to the little study, off the living room, which she and Mary had furnished for him with loving care. A place in which he could be by himself, in which he could have all the comfortable untidiness he wanted, which he might fill with pipe smoke and sometimes, when he disagreed with an article or a book or when his own writing did not go so well, he would be angry or that he be given a whisky and soda instantly or merely that she come and kiss him.

There were many nights when he was called out, and somehow she liked that the best of all, waiting for him in the quiet bedroom, sometimes sitting up and reading, in some of her innumerable trousseau bed jackets, sometimes falling asleep and waking instantly to his step.

She had no need of other people, except perhaps Mary who, now that her own mother was three thousand miles away, was nearer to her than ever before. But she forced herself to go out, to keep in circulation to some extent, if quietly enough, seeing young women of her own age, paying duty calls on Aunt Ella's friends, hunting up a child adoption charity in which she became interested shortly after her marriage, and doing volunteer work at its offices.

Judith also saw a good deal of Hilda Morley and Barbara Taylor. She did not especially like or dislike—Hilda, who seemed to her rather shallow, but she did like Barbara, although she found her difficult to know, a little repressed. You admired Barbara and you trusted her but you could not feel close to her. But because of Matthew's association with Sam and Bill, she felt that it was incumbent upon her to be friendly with their wives. And they often dined together.

She liked Elizabeth, Matthew's office nurse, better than either of the two doctors' young wives. One reason perhaps was that Elizabeth, like herself, was so radiantly happy. She asked her and her Peter to dine and the four of them played an amiable game of contract and had an amusing evening. She was sorry to see them go out into a winter snowstorm.

It was shortly after the beginning of the New Year. Christmas had been more fun than anything she could remember in a long time. Shopping for Matthew had been a delight. She said to Mary, "He's a big baby," watching him open his packages.

He had given her a compact which she cherished. And he hadn't been able to wait until Christmas to give it to her.

Now with the New Year coming in, Judith closing the door on Elizabeth and Peter said happily, "They're such nice people."

Music Found by Singer To Be Good Food

By ARLENE WOLF

Frieda Hempel is no doctor, but she knows that music is medicine. She's watched it work.

The famous lyric and coloratura soprano has been performing for wounded servicemen in this war as she did in World War I. And she's found the recipe for melodic medicine is just as effective today as in 1918.

"Something gay, light and charming—waltzes, Schubert, little French songs—that's what the boys like. Nothing nostalgic, nothing sad. When they hear gay songs, they relax. They forget the world of battle."

Music can do more than make servicemen forget the horrors of warfare, the blonde singer believes. She's campaigning for an active kind of musical therapy—a treatment with rhythm. If she had her way, she'd put a singer on every hospital staff, to get the wounded to sing themselves to health.

Even the mentally unbalanced might be taught coordination with rhythm, she thinks. The full relaxed breathing so important in singing would be good for them too, and also would help cure chest diseases, such as tuberculosis and asthma.

"Everybody likes a good tune," says the opera singer. "And everybody reacts to music. When I hear people say they do not like music, I am afraid of them. I stay away. Why, when I sing, even the pigeons from the park gather here on the window sill."

The Leipzig-born soprano who began studying music at the age of seven, is sure about the future of music as medicine, but she's worried about the future of music itself.

If something doesn't happen to make the younger singers of today work harder, and escape the lure of high-priced radio contracts before they're ready, Frieda Hempel thinks there won't be anybody left to sing opera in ten years.

"Today, singers do not study," she maintains. "They do not know languages. They do not observe. They do not know life. How can they portray life on the opera stage when they know nothing about it? Some of them do not even know how to breathe. They get up in the morning, have breakfast, and rush to sing on the radio. I can not do that, without first practicing. I couldn't do it when I was 18."

Hempel has had long years of the "education of mind and ear" she believes necessary to musical perfection. She started voice lessons at 15; a year later she learned stage technique when Max Reinhardt chose her as an elf for a production of "Midsummer Night's Dream." Since then, she's sung with Caruso, performed at Bayreuth, had two years at the Royal Opera abroad, introduced "Der Rosenkavalier" to America, and impersonated Jenny Lind on the 100th anniversary of the birth of the Swedish Nightingale.

Washington at a Glance

By JACK STINNETT

By CLAIR JOHNSON

(During Jack Stinnett's vacation, this column is being written by members of the Washington staff of The Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON — The so-called "voice of the people" is still heard loudly and frequently in Washington.

Letters carry the greatest volume of expression, of course, but the time-honored right of petition is exercised heavily.

More than 5,000 petitions—ranging in the number of signatures from 10 to 1,000,000 persons—during this session alone.

Veterans and liquor are chief topics of interest among the petitioners. Everybody's for aid to the veterans, but the wets and dries split about even on the liquor question.

Congressmen are just about as active as their constituents in trying to get their views across. There are only 425 representatives and 98 senators, but in this session they have introduced approximately 8,000 bills.

Getting the bills passed is another matter, however. So far only about 750 have become laws, and it isn't likely the percentage will get much higher.

The reason for this is that hundreds of the bills are largely for "show" purposes—just to let the home folks know their congressmen are really at work. Also, many are similar to or duplicates of legislation finally adopted.

Of the measures which do pass, surprisingly few are major legislation. The majority are either to settle claims against the government as a result of accidents involving federal property or personnel, or are corrections and changes in laws already on the books.

The mail question poses a tough problem for most legislators. Not only is the volume so high that most of them have had to put on extra clerks, but the replies frequently require the mind and judgement of a Solomon.

Rep. Gibson (D-Ga.) is still trying to figure out how to reply to one he received. The writer, it seems, had a solution to a speedy naval victory in the war. The trouble, he maintained, was that our ships were too big (the enemy could see them too easily) and our guns too small (we couldn't shoot far enough or hard enough).

Accordingly, he thought, we ought to make very small ships and then mount them with great big guns—and the rest would be easy.

Rep. Bennett (R-Mo.) finally puzzled out one he received. It read "my son has just been put in charge of a spittoon. Do I get more money?"

He replied "If your son now commands any Army platoon, as you indicated, his pay probably is increased and therefore your allotment may be raised."

Mrs. F. E. Haines Presides Over WCTU Meeting

Members of the Sugar Grove WCTU assembled at the home of Mrs. Ralph Hays, Wednesday for their regular meeting under the direction of the president, Mrs. F. E. Haines.

Mrs. Marie Marine had charge of devotionals for the meeting, opening by asking all to repeat the "Lord's Prayer" and the 23rd Psalm. Mrs. Marine then read an article by an Army Air Force chaplain, closing with prayer.

Mrs. Edith Scott presided as program leader for the session, opening the meeting by asking Mrs. Marine to give the reading "Indecency Is Still News." Next was "A Rose Behind the Bar," read by Mrs. Ralph Hays. "Wartime Temperance, at Home and Abroad," was given next by Miss Blanche Roberts. "Public Enemy No. 1," by Mrs. Clara Campbell and "Women Can Put A New Soul in the World," by Mrs. Ethel Cavine were heard next. The reading of a poem, "Family Altar," by Mrs. Scott closed the readings.

Miss Lois Cavine then gave two piano solos, "Indian Love Call," and "As Time Goes By." Miss Marilyn Hays, daughter of the hostess, then favored the group with the solo, "Gondolier."

Miss Cavine and Miss Pat Nisley were inducted into the union as new members at this meeting, while Mrs. W. W. Montgomery was made an honorary member.

The session was closed with the WCTU benediction, and during the informal social hour which followed, the hostess, assisted by her daughter and Miss Cavine, served light and cooling refreshments.

Nancy Reno Is Guest of Honor at Birthday Party

Mrs. Frank Reno, 1114 South Main Street, entertained Tuesday afternoon with a gala birthday party, honoring the fifth birthday of her daughter Nancy Carol.

A number of young friends of the honoree assembled in the earlier hours of the afternoon to enjoy a number of games. Prizes for the first game went to Alice Baughn and Nancy Lucas, while the peanut hunt prize was awarded to Mary Waters and Marlene Thornton.

The guests were then invited to the dining room where a number of gifts were nicely arranged. Here the charming young guest of honor, opened each gift and made sweet response.

At smaller tables placed informally about the living room, the traditional ice-cream and birthday cake were served by the hostess and her assistants. Those assisting were the guest of honor's two grandmothers, Mrs. Elmer Holmes Thomas Snyder and Mrs. Richard and Mrs. Otto Reno, also Mrs. Waters.

Those attending were Peggy Ann Snyder, Carolyn Merritt, Connie Lou Locke, Mila Kay and Lavina Marie Weatherly, Darlene and Marlene Thornton, Sue Riley, Patty Sowder, Nancy and Sally Lucas, Beverly Sprague Susie Dawes, Helen and Alice Baughn, Kenna Lou Lucas, Sally Deering, Rebecca, Mary and Anna Ruth Waters.

Helen Simons Hostess to Church Class Members

Twelve members of the Leadership Training Class assembled at the home of Miss Helen Simons, Wednesday evening, for their regular meeting. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Loren Noble, the vice-president, Mrs. Ray Farley, presided during the business meeting.

It was voted to buy a War Bond, during the business meeting, and also to give a sizeable donation to the Lion's Club for their Can-teen at the Bus Station.

Mrs. John Steele and Mrs. S. A. Dewey, former teachers of the class, were included with the members as guests at this meeting. The guests were invited to the screened porch where light refreshments were dispensed by the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Hoy Simons. A fiesta color theme was delightfully and cleverly carried out in the decorations and appointments. Centering the table, which was covered with a brilliantly colored cloth, was an arrangement of colorful summer flowers, which were echoed in the chinaware and napkins used.

The group then went to the Fayette Theater where the movie "Summer Storm" was seen, bringing to a close a most enjoyable summer session of the class.

Mrs. Woollard Is Hostess to the Tuesday Club

Mrs. Fred D. Woollard entertained three guests when members of the Tuesday Club assembled at her home for a most enjoyable and relaxing afternoon of sewing and informal visiting. The invited guests were Mrs. Walter Jones, Miss Bess Cleveland and Mrs. M. E. Hitchcock, of Athens, who has been visiting friends here for sometime.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Forest F. Tipton, served a light and appetizing dessert course at the dining room table earlier in the afternoon. The centerpiece used on the table by the hostess was composed of vari-colored garden flowers.

The remainder of the time was spent in chatting over needlework, as is the custom of the club.

Recent Bride Feted at Shower

Mrs. Mayme Johnson entertained at her home in Yatesville with a miscellaneous shower honoring Mrs. Paul Maughmer (nee Roma Jean Roush of Jeffersonville) when a number of invited friends and relatives assembled in Yatesville to fete this personable young bride.

The home was decorated with a profusion of summer blooms for this occasion, when during the afternoon hilarious and entertaining contests were presented for entertainment by the hostess.

The popular young woman was then showered with a lovely assortment of gifts, for which her response was most gracious. Climaxing the delightful afternoon was the serving of tempting refreshments by the hostess.

Those present were Mrs. Florence Klontz, Mrs. Grace Stillworth, Jamestown, Mrs. Charles Bowers, Mrs. Emerson Dowler, Mrs. Chloe Cook, Mrs. Peter Westfall, Mrs. William Roush, Mrs. Ray Barlett, Mrs. Alfred Roush, the honor guest and hostess.

Rugby, as it was originally played, called for from 40 to 100 players.

ALLOTMENT CUT FOR FUEL OIL USERS WARNED

Restaurant Ceiling Prices To Be Posted Here Soon Ration Board Says

Fuel oil rations allotted Fayette County have been cut "considerably" because of enforcement of strict regulations that are being enforced this year, it was said by a member of the Ration Board.

"The situation is going to be tough this winter," he continued and explained that word had come down from Office of Price Administration (OPA) headquarters that "there can be no supplemental fuel oil rations issued this year except in extreme physical hardship."

The Ration Board here has been told by the OPA that "we are probably facing the most severe shortage in kerosene and distillate throughout the ration area that we have yet known. The board was instructed, it was said, to make a "very careful and intensive study" of each application.

Letters passing on this statement of the situation to consumers have been mailed out with the suggestion that preparations be made now, if possible, to heat by some means other than fuel oil. Consumers also were told to feel free to stop at the Ration Board office for further explanations if they have any questions regarding their rations.

Restaurant Prices

Shifting to another phase of rationing, it was said that patrons of restaurants in Washington C. H. and Fayette County's villages soon could be able to see and check the ceiling prices of the meals and food they buy.

In cooperation with the Restaurant Industry Advisory Council, a nationwide organization, the OPA issued a restaurant ceiling price regulation which is now in effect. Every public eating and drinking place, it was said, was required to post prominently the prices on 40 basic food items. The posters are being provided by the Ration Board and must be put up not later than August 16. Establishments which do not serve all of the 40 selected items are to be required to post the prices of those they do serve and add others commonly sold until the poster is filled in, it was explained.

While there was no denying that the posting of the price lists would involve considerable work for restaurant operators, it was pointed out that it was all a part of the government's effort to check inflation and see that the distribution of food was spread as evenly as possible.

Rationing officials were quick to praise the restaurateurs of Washington C. H. for keeping their prices within reasonable bounds in spite of the demands which have taxed their capacity for cooking and serving. "They are to be commended for their patriotic spirit in not taking advantage of the situation to hike prices when we know as well as they that they could have."

It was explained that the restaurant council and OPA had joined hands in preparing the ceiling price list because "unevenly rising prices have been causing unfair distribution of scarce supplies and serious rises in living costs of many workers who must eat in public eating places" in many other parts of the country.

The general impression was that restaurants here would benefit by the ceiling prices, although the posting of the lists admittedly would mean a bit of extra work.

NYLON HOSE ARE MADE AT EXPENSE OF ARMY'S NEEDS, FBI CHARGES

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Diversion of nylon for women's stockings at the expense of the manufacture of army parachutes and aerial tow lines was alleged yesterday by New Jersey FBI Chief Samuel K. McKee as he announced the arrest of three men on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government.

McKee said the nylon, "badly needed" by the government, "was made into women's hose and sold at black market prices."

Enough nylon to make 12,000 pairs of 100 percent nylon hose had been diverted, the FBI chief stated, and FBI agents recovered $50,000 worth of thread and unfinished hosiery.

Combined W. S. C. S. Meets

Members of the combined W. S. C. S. Circles met at the Methodist Church Tuesday A. M. for their quarterly session, with the president, Mrs. Eugene Van Pelt presiding.

Mrs. Ferrol Rhonemus was at the piano for the opening song led by Mrs. Everett Waddell, followed by devotionals, along the theme of "Putting Christ First" and prayer by the president.

Mrs. Olin Moon read the minutes of the executive committee meeting and their recommendations were acted on. Reports were given by the treasurer, Mrs. Mayme Reeder, Mrs. Rhonemus Mrs. Raymond Cline, Mrs. John Matthews, Mrs. Naomi Thompson along their various lines of work. F. G. Chance, of the Service Men's committee read their quarterly letter to all in uniform of the church which now numbers 47. A motion was made and carried to send each of these a copy of the "Upper Room," at each quarterly issue. A rising vote of thanks was extended to all ladies, who assisted in cleaning the church recently.

Mrs. Rhonemus dismissed the morning session with prayer.

A delightful luncheon was served in the church dining room at 12:30 by the ladies of Circle 3, with Mrs. Everett Waddell as chairman.

Mrs. R. A. Gaskins was at the piano organ for the afternoon session and played "Be Still My Soul." This was followed by Scripture lesson and prayer by Mrs. Chance, Mrs. Leslie Johnson, secretary of Spiritual Life, gave a talk on "Christians Should be Christian" which was appreciated by all present.

A number of guests were present, and presented a very interesting program, as follows:

Mrs. James Boyd, president of Wilmington W. S. C. S. told of their work in creating a fund to keep the slot machines out of this city. Their contributions to Friendly Center and various other phases of the work.

Miss Kathleen Outcalt, who has a charming personality told how to interest young people in the work and create an interest in reading good books.

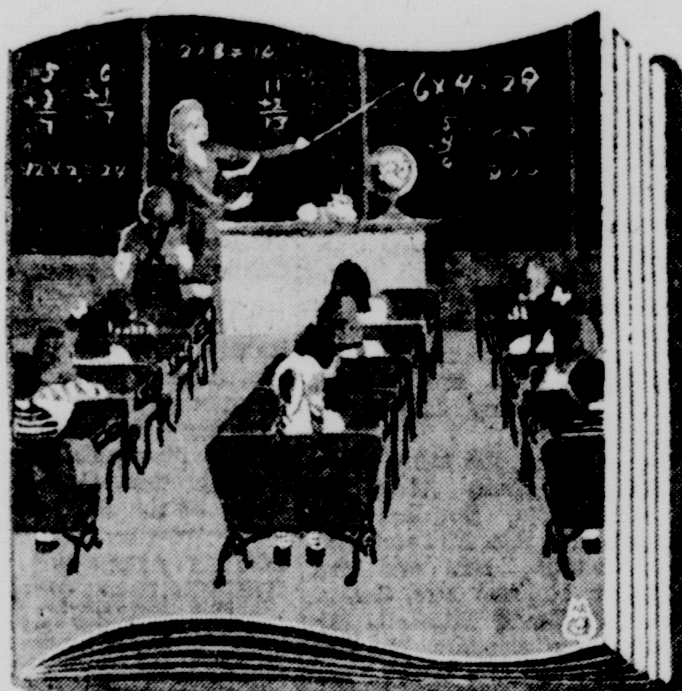

Mrs. Andree, who was assisting in teaching at the Junior Conference now in session on the Camp Ground, reported 167 had registered for this session.

Sabina W. S. C. S. and Sabina Church School defrayed the expenses of those going from their church.

Mrs. Raymond Haines, president of the Bowersville W. S. C. S. spoke of their membership and the work done by their 50 members. This was followed by the introduction of Mrs. Georgia Bothby, who delighted the audience with a splendid reading.

Mrs. Elmer Gotherman as president of Port William W. S. C. S. discussed their program of work, and introduced Mrs. Howard Hint, who gave a humorous reading, in prose describing the "Gossip of Many Societies." This created much merriment.

SHEEP CLAIMS TOTALING $669 ORDERED PAID

Dog Warden Reports Over
600 Dogs Picked Up
So Far in 1944

The County Commissioners have approved claims aggregating $669 for sheep killed by dogs during the first six months of this year. A few claims were carried over for further investigation before they are allowed.

With approval of the claims, comes the information from County Auditor Ulic T. Acton that the dog and kennel fund contains $2,907.21 from which the claims will be paid. A substantial balance will be left, he said, to meet other claims that may accrue against the fund during the remainder of the year.

It also was said that 2,634 dogs have been licensed, the greatest number in recent years, as compared with 2,357 licensed last year.

During the year to-date, County Dog Warden Otis Bonecutter has picked up more than 600 dogs. Of this number 375 have been sold to Ohio State University and some 200 were destroyed. A substantial number have been redeemed by their owners.

Bonecutter stated that there were upwards of 89 sheep claims filed last year and that the first 49 claims filed totaled $2,356.46.

During the first half of this year 26 claims have been filed with a total amount claimed of less than $900.

Bonecutter stated that in connection with the last 17 claims filed, 18 dogs that were responsible for the claims were killed or captured.

County Auditor Acton stated that when damages are fixed where sheep are killed, at more than the value of the sheep listed for taxation, the listing price is the real value allowed.

Claims allowed this week, in addition to the fees of those called in to appraise damage to flocks, follow:

O. S. Bush, three, $30; F. A. Holdren, two, $24; Elizabeth Hendryx, two, $24; S. O. Lanman, 12, $120; Joseph A. McFadden, 12, $70; Bert Dean, eight, $80; Russell Martindale, one, $10; Paul Gerhardt, two, $25; Harry Wolfe and John Marchant, two, $24; Worley A. Melvin, five, $30; Loren B. ## CANVASS HERE BELIEVED TO BE CHECK ON RENTS

Full Report To Be Made on Completion - - Until Then No Information Given

Although there was every indication that a survey of housing conditions and rents in Washington C. H. was under way today in Washington C. H., there was no official announcement or explanation of confirmation.

Mrs. Florence F. Coleman, registered at the Washington Hotel, is understood to be supervising a canvass by several young women, but she said when contacted by telephone that she was under specific instructions from the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics to give no interviews and added "we definitely do not want any publicity." She also declined to give the names of the canvassers.

After saying that experience had shown publicity to be a hindrance to the survey, she said she would be glad to be interviewed after it had been completed and her reports sent to the bureau's office in Washington D. C. She also intimated that copies of the report with possible conclusions based on it would be sent back here, presumably to the War Price and Rationing Board. She declined to be drawn out further on the subject.

Complaints On Rents

Questions reportedly asked of residents of the city, indicate that the primary interest concerns rents. Mrs. Coleman would say nothing of the reactions of those questioned. Whether every house is to be contacted in the survey remains conjectural.

There has been a growing impression among many here, especially among those who rent their homes, that some landlords have taken advantage of wartime congestion to raise rents out of proportion and that some control measures eventually be necessary. Criticism has not been directed against all owners of rental property, however, and the feeling has been expressed that landlords who have kept their rents within reason have no reason to find fault with any efforts to stabilize this phase of public living costs.

Members of the War Price and Rationing Board have said informally that for some time they have been getting complaints of high rents charged by some landlords. They also have said they have received appeals from some renters to have the government step in and place rents under a ceiling.

Whether this survey is a forerunner to some such action is a matter for speculation.

Houses for rent—any kind of houses—are so scarce as to be almost non-existent, real estate operators say and add that this situation has existed almost since the start of the war. About a year ago, a group of businessmen held several meetings at which they seriously considered asking the Housing Administration to declare this a critical area and lift building restrictions. However, nothing ever came of them.

The Youth Group meeting of the Wilmington District is being held this week at Sabina Camp Grounds. Maxine Linson and Romana DeMent are delegates attending from the local Methodist Church.

Birthday Surprise

Nancy Jane Coll, daughter of Mr. Emmett Coll, was pleasantly surprised Tuesday afternoon with a birthday party in her honor when girls of her Sunday School class gathered at the beautiful home of her aunt, Mrs. Byron Jenks. Nancy was welcomed by the singing of "Happy Birthday to You."

After much talking and laughter about the surprise, Mrs. Gail Clark, assisting hostess, led in the playing of games with prizes awarded to Eileen Theobald, Celia Hill and Nevelyn Theobald.

Favors were in the form of autograph books with girls exchanging autographs.

The guest of honor was presented with many beautiful gifts and she graciously voiced her thanks to each guest.

At four o'clock the guests led by the guest of honor retired to the dining room. The table was gaily decorated with a beautiful flowered tablecloth centered with the traditional birthday cake with candles. A dainty dessert course was served by the hostesses.

The guests included: Celia Hill, Janice Gahm, Nevelyn and Eileen Theobald, Rosalyn Simmermon and Sue Davis. Callers during the afternoon were: Mrs.

Clara Theobald, Mrs. Helen Gahm, Mrs. Margaret Davis, Mrs. Dorothy Clemans, Mrs. Catherine Coll and son, Sammy, Bobby, Buddy and Billy Clark.

Woman's Meeting

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church, will meet on Thursday afternoon, August 17th, in the home of Mrs. Wayne Linson. The group will sponsor an ice cream social at the Community building, August 20th.

BIG LOOPHOLE IN 'GAS' RATIONING IS FOUND

Private Plane Owners Demand—and Get—Fuel

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—There is a loophole in the national gasoline rationing program enough to fly a sports biplane through.

Owners of private airplanes demand enough gasoline to take them on a vacation trip to Yellowstone or a fishing trip to Florida, and their local ration boards must hand them the requested rations.

The only requisite is that the gasoline be used in the plane, not an automobile.

Officials of the Office of Price Administration conceded today they are helpless to do anything about the situation under present regulations. Conferences have been held, however, looking toward a possible revision of the rule.

WATER TABLE DROPS

CIRCLEVILLE—Pickaway County's water table dropped 2.04 feet during April, May and June, reports indicate.

STOVE WRECKED

GREENFIELD—When five or six quarts of peaches being cooked in the oven of a stove at the home of H. D. Block, exploded with terrific force, the stove was wrecked. Fruit plastered the kitchen walls.

COPY OF PAPER FROM SAIPAN IS RECEIVED HERE

Conquering Troops Put Out Own News While Still Fighting With Japs

From Saipan, newly captured Jap-held island, Pvt. W. E. Summers, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Summers, 120 East Paint Street, has sent a copy of "The Saipan Post-Dispatch," a one sheet mimeographed daily newspaper which began publication July 1.

Pvt. Summers has been overseas since March and, he wrote his parents, he landed on Saipan before the fighting was over but didn't participate in it because of his work in the signal section and surveying group of his outfit.

He wrote how he had "got used to bombs and now we just jump into a foxhole and don't think anything about it." He has been in the service for two years.

Most of the newspaper—at least the front page—is devoted to news of Saipan and an explanation that most of the headline had to be omitted for censorship regulations. The issue was specially prepared for soldiers to send home.

Brief paragraphs are devoted to the attempted assassination of Hitler; the soldier vote (every soldier on Saipan will have the opportunity to vote, the paper said), the Republican and Democrat nominees for the presidency and the new Army decoration for overseas service.

An equally long paragraph told how "letters are the most sought for commodity on Saipan." Don't be stingy with mail from the mainland. The postal gang here can handle all the mail dispatched here with ease.

The staff praised the bakery and predicted the arrival of ice cream machines, bottling plants and post exchanges on the island at each remote post.

Chaplains and Maj. Gen. Sanderford Jarman, affectionately dubbed "Sandy" were given their share of roses. The occupying forces on Saipan were confronted with the first task of handling civilian and native internees. "If U. S. prisoners of war receive the same treatment Jap POWs received on Saipan, the folks at home will have no worry on this score."

In another letter, Pvt. Summers wrote he had found a "playable" Jap phonograph in a hastily-evacuated Jap dugout. He asked for some records from his father's music shop. Other captured items he mentioned were flags, blankets, chairs and tables. "The lanterns we are using now were made in the 'honorable' city of Tokyo," he commented wryly.

PRICE INCREASE IS DUE ON COOKIES, CRACKERS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10—(AP)—After August 14 you will pay a little more for cookies, crackers, toast and crumbs sold to retailers by specialty wholesalers, the Office of Price Administration announced today.

The slight increase results from new ceilings based on the highest price of March, 1942 rather than on the previous "fixed mark-up," OPA said.

Steps Must Be Taken For Greater Water Supply

DEEP WELLS ARE NOW USED FOR HUGE PUMPAGE

Damming of Paint Creek Is Regarded as Possible Solution

As the years go by and the water supply of Washington C. H. is threatened with every pronounced drought, it is becoming more apparent that new methods of obtaining an adequate water supply must be worked out in the near future.

With the surface supply of water dwindling day by day, and with the daily pumpage in this city averaging 1,028,000 gallons—350,000 to 375,000 gallons daily above normal—the situation insofar as the city water supply is concerned is becoming more serious.

Pumps of both the main pumping plant and the auxiliary station are in operation nearly the full 24 hours daily to bring the supply to the surface from the series of deep wells.

The well from which the auxiliary supply is drawn ends in a thick layer of water-bearing sand and gravel 50 feet above the Niagara limestone, but most of the water from the main plant comes from the fissured and porous layers of the Niagara limestone at a depth of about 140 feet.

This supply has, in previous years, been adequate to supply the demand for the city, but this year the daily pumpage is, and for weeks has been considerably above normal, and greater than the usual amount during droughts.

While the city has been growing rapidly in recent years, and demand for water has increased materially, no additional wells have been drilled here to increase the water supply for some eight years.

At that time some of the wells were reconditioned, some being drilled deeper, and new piping placed in them.

So far as known deep wells some 8 or 10 miles north of this city have not been pulled down extensively by the town on the underground supply at this point, indicating that there is still a heavy reserve supply of water stored in and above the Niagara limestone for a considerable area to the north of Washington C. H.

One artesian well some 8 miles north of Washington C. H. has been lowered many feet in previous droughts by constant pumpage of water for the city and industrial plants here.

The chief solution for obtaining water seems to be the damming of Paint Creek north of here, or East Fork of Paint northeast of this city.

Damming Paint Creek any higher than it is at the pumping plant here, would flood hundreds of acres of farm lands for several miles north of Washington C. H., due to the scant fall in the stream.

So far as known the Ohio Water Service Co. is not planning to seek additional supply until after war-time restrictions are lifted.

EMPLOYMENT DOWN BUT PAYROLLS UP

COLUMBUS, Aug. 10—(P)—Employment in Ohio declined one percent from April to May but payrolls increased nearly one percent, a report from the Ohio State University's Bureau of Business Research and the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics showed today.

Only metal products had a payroll decrease during the month—two percent.

Compared with the same month a year ago, employment this May was down four percent and payrolls were up two percent, the report indicated. Only major type of manufacturing showing employment increases were lumber products, five percent, and rubber products, nine percent.

Life is just beginning for Irene Dunne and Alan Marshal in M-G-M's "The White Cliffs of Dover," coming Sunday to the Fayette Theater. They have just been married and are celebrating the event. Shortly thereafter Marshal is called to war and he makes the big sacrifice, leaving behind a son who is to follow in his footsteps in World War II. The picture has a tender appeal for all audiences and should be a must on your list.

Danville News

Most every one in this life has stood at the cross roads and wondered just which way to turn. It might have been a great problem or a small one, but a decision had to be reached. We have wondered why there were cross roads in our life and why they were not all straight and plain. But life isn't like that at all. Most all of life's roads are cross roads and if they were all straight, it would banish all our worry, and we would soon lose sight of the goal. If there were guide posts and lights at the cross roads and the roads were all smooth and free from ruts, it would make life's journey too easy. So when the cross roads come into our life, let's meet it with a smile and a song on our lips, and most of all with faith, and confidence in our self and choose the road that will bring us the most happiness.

Hambletonian Won By Yankee Maid

By ORLO ROBERTSON
GOSHEN, N. Y., Aug. 10.—Last winter A. L. Derby could have sold Yankee Maid for $30,000. Today, the Wichita, Kas., oilman was thankful he had turned down E. J. Baker's offer, for the bay daughter of Volomite rules the three-year-old trotters after her easy straight-heat triumph in the 19th Hambletonian.

Loser of only one of her five two-year-old starts in taking the 1943 juvenile title and beaten once in the same number of trips to the post this season, Yankee Maid already has won close to $40,000—a good investment on the $1,500 Derby paid as a yearling for the half-sister to the world's champion trotter, Greyhound.

The filly will have a chance to prove an even better investment when she clashes with the pick of the three-year-olds in the horseman's Futurity at Greenville, Ohio, the week of August 21.

Yankee Maid lost little time yesterday in justifying her position as the favorite in light harness racing's most famous race. She took the lead after a quarter-mile in the first heat and went on to win by five lengths in 2:05. In the second mile, Henry Thomas shot her to the front going into the first turn, and she never was headed as she won by four lengths in 2:04.

Emily Scott, owned by C. W. Phellis of Greenwich, Conn., was runner-up in the first brush and fourth in the second to take second money. Enac, giving Bill

Bucky To Go for Win No. 17 After Reds Lose to Braves

By JACK HAND
(By the Associated Press)

Boston's hopes for its first pennant since 1918 faded today as Tex Hughson prepared to report for navy duty and the St. Louis Browns showed no signs of cracking in the stretch.

Hughson, due to report to the navy August 23, was scheduled to start home today with the satisfaction of hurling a four-hit job against Chicago for his 18th victory.

Although Hughson chipped in with two hits and Jim Tabor and Bob Johnson rapped homers, the Red Sox failed to gain on the front-running Browns by their 9-1 slaughter of Chicago. It was their 13th triumph in 15 starts against their White Sox "cousins."

Al Zarilla protected St. Louis' 6½-game margin over Boston by cracking a game-winning homer in the ninth inning to stop the New York Yankees, 3-2, as the Browns grabbed their ninth straight win to tie their early-season string.

Tigers Beat Senators

Hal Newhouse matched Hughson with his 18th win as Detroit topped Washington, 4-2, and Early Wynn suffered his 10th successive loss. Newhouse with 18, and teammate Dizzy Trout with 17, took over the race for high game winner.

Al Smith slugged home two runs in the first inning and then settled back to pitch Cleveland to a 4-3 edge over Philadelphia, sprinkling eight hits.

—Spying— On Sports

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

GOSHEN, N. Y., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Yesterday's Hambletonian drew the biggest crowd in several years—just over 13,000—but the purse was one of the smallest in the 19 years the trotting classic has been raced. It also was the first time since 1935 that Bill Strang, winner for the past two years, hasn't had an entry.

Hambletonian Hayseed

Here's the kind of thing that makes the buggy whip derby something to remember. . . . The chatter of starter Steve Phillips as he pets the horses lined up, and his casual remark between races that he once heard of a heat that took an hour and three quarters to get off under the old starting system. . . . The jams around the inadequately manned mutuel windows. . . . The sharp turns on the triangular track that would have running horses cutting a few new gates in the fence. . . . The pungent barn odor and the sweet smell of hay. . . . The dumb speeches during the presentation of the Hambletonian trophy—mostly that the winner is a "real nice hoss."

Kentucky's Walnut Farm, which boasts of having had the sire or dam of the winner of every Hambletonian, has the sires of four of yesterday's six money winners and the dam of another. . . . When 71-year-old Ben White, who would have been the oldest driver in the Hambletonian, was taken sick just before the race, he was replaced by his son, Gibson, who was the youngest driver. . . . Gibson didn't do as well with his own horse, as Ben did a few years ago with her dam, Rosalind.

OUT-OF-TOWN-SOFTBALL TEAMS TO BE BOOKED BY API BOYS TO PAY OFF LEAGUE EXPENSES

All-API softballers will meet an all-star delegation from Wilmington Thursday at 8 P. M. instead of the Chillicothe Texaco team, winners of the Southeastern Ohio championship, originally scheduled Thursday at Wilson Field.

Five of the Texacos were called into the service and all games scheduled for the team are called off this week end.

The Warworkers are losing their pitcher, Roland Chase, who leaves Saturday for the army. His last appearance was Monday night in the API-Wilson tilt. The Warworkers gave him an army belt and some cash as a farewell gift.

In an effort to make up the present season's deficit—estimated at around $55 by George Miranben, the league supervisor—the API team is planning to schedule other games with out-of-town teams of the Ferguson Auditors' caliber. The Auditors' game netted $26.75 for the YMCA fund.

It is reported a combination of the best players of the city league will confront the imported teams—such as Bobb Chevrolet, Model Dairy, Lockbourne Airbase, Dickerson Shoes, which are being contacted. Admissions in proportion to the guarantees for expenses of the teams will be charged at these games, it is indicated.

Washington-owned Pacer Sets Record at Wilmington

A Washington C. H.-owned horse and a Washington C. H. driver stole the show at the Clinton County Fair races at Wilmington Wednesday, the second day's program, when Ernest Smith piloted McKinley Kirk's sorrel gelding, Kenny Mac Abbe to a new track record of 2:09 in the stake for two-year-old pacers.

Kenny Mac Abbe, a smooth moving youngster by the famous Bert Abbe, took the race in straight heats as he "came to himself" after finishing third and first in the two-year-old stake here two weeks ago. The performance was witnessed by a packed grandstand.

Lee Wynn, also driven by Smith, and owned by Hoadley Cordes, Loveland, took a straight heat victory in the 2:24 trot, and Flash, owned by R. L. Craig, Urbana, and driven by Gabe Cartnal, took all three heats of the three-year-old trot.

It remained for the two-year-old pace to thrill the crowd, with Uhl Abbe, driven by Harry Short, of Washington C. H., forcing Kenney Mac Abbe all out in the stretch of both heats for the latter to win by a nose. In the second heat, the youngsters went in 2:10.

Official paid attendance at the Fair Tuesday was 1,809 persons, it was announced.

WILSONS FACE API FOR TITLE

From now on the battle for the city softball championship is between the API War Workers and Wilson's Hardwarren.

The Wilsonians eliminated the Methodists from the City League double elimination tournament by a score of 7 to 2 in their semifinal game at Wilson Field Wednesday evening.

The Wilson boys now are all set to meet the API crew in a game for the title next Monday night. But they must win two in a row to carry off the honors. The second game, if the Wilsonians beat the API and make it necessary, will be played the following evening.

The Wilson team had little trouble in trouncing the Methodists. Play in the field by both teams was ragged, with 5 errors being committed by each. But, the Hardwarren outthrew the Churchmen, 6 to 2, and that decided the battle.

Grimm led the hitting by getting two for three off Petty's offerings and Curry slapped out a home run with two aboard.

Horvath To Play; Buck Hopes Go Up

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Ohio State University's football stock went up a couple of points today following announcement that Leslie Horvath, half-back on the 1942 championship team, would be eligible to play this fall.

Coach Carroll Widdoes said the speed merchant's appearance depends on one thing—whether Selective Service will permit him to complete his dental schooling.

Horvath is a junior in the dental college, and under the ASTP was permitted to continue his studies. However, the army has announced these boys—excepting seniors—will be discharged from the service this fall.

Bill Hackett, a guard, and Warren Amling, linemen, who starred with the buck freshmen in 1942, also are available as civilians this year. Both were in the veterinary college, which also has been dropped from the ASTP program.

Cane (promoter of the race) a part of the money for the first time since, 1929, finished second in the last heat after dropping back to last in the first to get third money. Fourth went to Aaron F. Williams' Ruth's Day with a fifth and third; fifth to Mrs. James B. Johnson, Jr.'s Rapid Hanover with a third and seventh and sixth to Joseph F. Burke's Fighting Scot with a fourth and fifth.

HOME RUNS WIN FOR RED BIRDS

(By the Associated Press)

The fellow who invented the home run would be an honored personage were he to visit the Columbus Red Birds and the Milwaukee Brewers today. Both teams squeaked through their American Association endeavors last night with victory-producing homers, the Red Birds turning the trick twice to win both ends of a doubleheader from St. Paul, 2-1 and 7-4.

Shortstop Dick Culler came up with his fifth circuit smash of the year in the third inning to give Milwaukee's Don Hendrickson a 1-0 win over Indianapolis in a tight pitching duel with Bob Logan. Each hurler allowed seven hits.

The victory stretched Milwaukee's lead to nine games over the Toledo Mudhens, who gained second place as Cliff Fannin handed Minneapolis its 16th shut-out of the season, 7-0.

Louisville, beaten 8 to 5 by right-hander Vince Debsi and Kansas City, dropped a half game behind the Hens.

Outthit 12 to 7 in the seven inning opener, Columbus carried St. Paul into 10 innings before outfielder Jim Mallory came up with his round tripper to give Art Lopatka the verdict over the Saints' Cy Buker.

In the nightcap it was second baseman John Antonelli and catcher Jerry Burmeister who provided the Red Birds' home run punch.

course. Horsemen are loud in their praise of the splendid condition of the racing strip while casual visitors marvel at the "spiciness and span-ness" of the entire grounds.

A merry battle looms for riding honors. Members of the jockey colony will include Leonard Wegrzyn, a newcomer to Ohio racing, but a sensation in Chicago last year; Eddie Yocum, the champion jockey at the spring meetings at Beulah and River Downs; Dale Dew, brother of the late Earl Dew; Colin Knisley, Washington C. H. boy who was the king-pin at Hamilton and Charlie Clark, honorably discharged veteran of World War II who has been decorated with the Purple Heart.

Beulah Park Races Start On Saturday

(Special to the Record-Herald)

GROVE CITY, Aug. 10.—Beulah Park is ready to usher in its fall racing season Saturday, almost a full month earlier than usual. There will be 20 days of racing with the meeting closing on Labor Day, September 4, when the autumn session ordinarily is just getting fully under way.

Post time daily except Saturdays and Labor Day will be 4:15 P. M. On Saturdays and Labor Day, the starting time is to be 2:15 P. M.

Headlining the opening day's card will be the Inaugural Handicap, at six furlongs and for a purse of $1,000. Racing Secretary, Gene Bury, plans bi-weekly handicaps every Wednesday and Saturday—throughout the meeting as well as a handicap on the closing day, Labor Day. Purses in the handicaps will range in value from $900 to $2,000.

All told, approximately $100,000 in purses will be awarded during the meeting with the daily average running in the neighborhood of $5,000.

Track Superintendent, J. H. (Jack) Yerian, is receiving compliments from all sides for the excellent job he and his staff have done at the Grove City

PARKING METER PLANS CARRIED OVER TWO WEEKS

Judge R. H. Sites' Monthly Report to Council Sets Record

By reason of incomplete information regarding installation of parking meters in Washington C. H., proposed at the last meeting of the council, further action on the project was continued at the Wednesday night session of City Council, until the meeting in two weeks.

City Manager Walter L. Stambaugh, who advocated the installation as an aid to solving the parking problem and producer of much-needed revenue, stated that he had inquired at Circleville and was informed that 234 meters installed in the parallel parking there had brought in $9,990 in revenue last year.

He said that in this city where head-in parking is in force, some 400 meters could be installed, and that so far those who had mentioned parking meters were in favor of the penny type meters for parking less than one hour, and 5 cents per hour.

Stambaugh also said that a communication sent to a Cincinnati manufacturer regarding purchase of meters had not brought an answer.

During the next two weeks council, which, with the City Manager, is to investigate operation of the meters in other cities, will endeavor to obtain additional information.

Member Frank Snyder said he had heard many favorable comments on installing the meters, and only one who opposed it.

Judge Robert H. Sites presented his report on receipts in municipal court during the month of July, showing that $907.30 had been collected in fines, fees and forfeitures, or the largest amount he had ever collected in a single month. Of this amount all but $15 was paid into the city treasury, the $15 being paid into the state treasury.

Stambaugh reported briefly on street work, oiling catchbasins to keep the mosquito pest under control, and other work in the city.

The proposed taxing of taxicabs $75 each was continued for two weeks upon request of Acting Solicitor, John B. Hill, who said that Columbus is now putting an ordinance through to raise approximately $21,000 from the 150 taxis in that city.

A communication was received from the Office of Price Administration stating in effect that the board would not intervene in the change of rates for central heat here.

Slips passed among members of council listed the game tables in the various clubs, lodges, etc. in the city, as 20, and the amount of revenue produced listed at $500.

CUT IN WAR PRODUCTION FOR RECONVERSION LOOMS; ARMY-NAVY HELP ASKED

certain army stocks is such that modification of some procurement programs may be advisable."

The senate war investigating committee showed an interest in the suppressed document, Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) saying he thought the committee ought to see it. He asked committee lawyers to look into the matter.

The report, prepared by two WPB statisticians, had been withheld by their superior, Stacy May, director of WPB's bureau of planning and statistics, after the army, although admitting that the supply of some items was plentiful, had protested vigorously that its conclusions might obscure critical needs for certain weapons.

The statisticians, V. Lewis Bassie and Irving Kaplan, offered their resignations. These have not been accepted, and there were signs at WPB today they won't be. Nelson in his statement called Bassie and Kaplan "capable" and said the two men were "completely convinced that the study was objective and technically valid."

Informed sources said the document indicates there are abundant supplies of nearly all ordnance items for the army ground forces, though serious shortages in components of heavy trucks.

CAP MEETINGS HERE ARE OFF UNTIL AUG. 30

Training Course at Bowman Field for Cadets Is Cause Of Interruption

No more Civil Air Patrol meetings will be held here until August 30, Lt. B. P. Finkbone, CAP officer from Middletown, told the flight members here Wednesday night at the meeting in the high school building.

Cadets will be attending the ten-day camp at Bowman Field, Louisville, Ky. at which Lt. Finkbone is to teach. Since he cannot be here for the meetings, none will be scheduled. Cadets Wilkins and Hayslip of Bloomington are among those who will go to Bowman Field.

At the Wednesday night meeting Capt. Charles Virgil Sexton conducted half an hour of military drill, followed by a 30 minute lecture on how and why to keep military secrets. He explained that even the most insignificant piece of hearsay could be pieced together by the enemy until it disclosed vital information.

In the engine hour, Instructor Arthur Engle explained the difference between air-cool and liquid-cool engines, saying a liquid cool engine is the best type for aircraft use.

PROMOTION IS GIVEN WCH MAN WITH AAC

Cpl. John Coulter Serving in Antilles Area

(Special to Record-Herald) AAC HDQ., PURETO RICO, August 10.—Promotion of John L. Coulter, of Washington C. H., to the grade of corporal in the Army Air Forces has been announced at Antilles Air Command headquarters.

Entering the army September 14, 1942, at Wilmington, O., Cpl. Coulter was assigned to overseas duty, September 2, 1943, and at present is stationed at an Army Air Base in Trinidad, British West Indies.

Cpl. Coulter, born January 3, 1922 at Washington C. H., Ohio, is the son of Walter Coulter, 1004 Millwood Avenue. His wife, Mrs. Charlotte D. Coulter, resides at West Union, Ohio. He attended Washington C. H. High School and an army technical school.

Bases of the Antilles Air Command, of which Cpl. Coulter is a member, are located strategically from the western tip of Cuba to equatorial South Africa, covering an area 49 times that of Ohio. The bases form protective barriers for the gateways to the three Americas and serve as stepping stones on the air supply route to the fighting fronts of the world.

Mexico has 22 ocean ports.

HAYS IS NAMED CANDIDATE FOR COUNTY SHERIFF

Republican Committee Fills Vacancy on Ticket Caused By Death of Vincent

Orland Hays, residing on Clinton Avenue, Washington C. H., veteran of World War I and a member of the Paul H. Hughey Post of the American Legion, has been selected as the Republican candidate for election as sheriff of Fayette County to fill the vacancy created on the party's county ticket by the recent death of Virgil Vincent, the candidate nominated in the May Republican primary election.

A meeting of the Fayette County Republican Central Committee, composed of elected representatives of each city ward and township in the county, was held in the board of election room in the Court House Monday night, after due notification as prescribed under the election laws, to take action in filling the vacancy.

Four candidates were presented for the board's consideration, Orland Hays, Albert Warner, C. E. Eckles and Gus Armbrust. Warner and Eckles were candidates for the Republican nomination in the May primary election when Vincent was elected.

The committee gave considerable time to consideration and discussion of the merits of the various available candidates and when a vote was taken Hays received a majority. After this vote the committee took a second ballot and Hays choice was made unanimous.

Hays is well known in this city and county and was the Republican candidate at the election four years ago in which he ran a close race against the present Democratic incumbent, Sheriff W. H. Icenhower, who was again chosen as the Democratic nominee in the May primary election for a fifth term and will be on the ticket for the November election. His first two terms were for two years each.

Of the 15 members of the county Republican central committee all were present at this meeting except three who were unavoidably absent. They were Charles Hire, now with the U. S. Army at Chanute Field, Illinois; Oren Patton, and Carl Mallow.

Following the action of the committee in selecting Hays, official notice of the committee's choice was duly certified, according to legal requirement, to the Fayette County Board of Elections, which had been called to meet shortly after noon Thursday. At this board's meeting the legal procedure is to give notice to the secretary of state's office of this change and also to certify the new candidate to the printing company having the contract for furnishing the ballots, the Washington News Publishing Company, so that the ballots printed early for absent voters, including soldiers in camps and overseas, may carry the name of the Republican candidate chosen to fill the vacancy caused by Vincent's death.

Hays, for a number of years, was identified with Brandenburg Motor Sales, later held a position with a manufacturing company at Piqua, which was engaged on war contracts and for some time has been connected with Aeronautical Products Inc., at the plant in this city.

He was called before the committee after its action and agreed to accept the nomination and serve in the office if elected in November.

TRUCK IS DAMAGED; FIREMEN SUMMONED

City To Collect Fee for Assistance Given

A milk truck owned by Martin M. Cull, residing east of Washington C. H., was damaged considerably by fire while the truck was on the Greenfield road 3 1-2 miles south of this city Wednesday afternoon.

Firemen were called to the scene and succeeded in extinguishing the flames sufficiently to have the truck pulled to the edge of town, where a hydrant was tapped and the remainder of the fire was soon put out.

The City Thursday sent a bill to the insurance company for saving the truck from destruction by the fire. It was stated the truck was insured for $1800.

New York State is said by some to have been discovered by Verazano, a Florentine in the French service, in 1524—and rediscovered by Henry Hudson in 1609.

TEMPERANCE TO BE SUBJECT FOR SCHOOL STUDY

County System To Correlate Study With Sciences Next Winter

Explaining a new plan which he hopes will correlate the teaching of temperance with social and physical science in the 16 county schools, County Superintendent W. J. Hilty told about the purchase of a portable chart by the County Board of Education to be used for that purpose.

The chart itself cost $20. A cylindrical carrying case which is on order now will make it easy to transport the chart from school to school.

"Any pupil from the fifth grade on up will be able to comprehend the chart," Hilty said. He added he believed it was important the temperance question be brought before children while they are still young.

The 16 facets of the chart—presented in both literature and picture form—include effects of alcohol on the brain, internal organs, life span, efficiency in work and sports and the dangers confronting the drinking driver or pedestrian. A handbook for the teacher's use accompanies the chart.

WAVES' FAMILIES MAY GET NEW WINDOW STICKERS

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR VIRGIL VINCENT

Largely attended funeral services for Virgil Vincent, former grain dealer and candidate for sheriff on the Republican ticket, were held Wednesday at 3 P. M. at the Hook Funeral Home, and were conducted by Rev. W. H. Wilson, former pastor of the First Baptist Church.

Rev. Wilson, in addition to offering prayer, reading the scriptures and delivering the sermon, read two hymns "Abide With Me" and "Dear Lord and Father of Mankind."

The many lovely floral gifts were cared for by Mrs. John Mahew, Mrs. Delbert Mann, Mrs. Walter Marshall, Mrs. Ervin Miller and Mrs. Robert Miller.

Burial was made in the family lot in the Washington Cemetery. The pallbearers were Homer, Walter, Robert and Ervin Miller, Walter McLean and Keith Garringer.

In 1943, laying hens averaged 142 eggs apiece, more than twice as many as 20 years before.
